📺 In today's digital age, a single video can go viral in a matter of hours. But not everything that goes viral was shared with consent. Some videos involve a serious violation of someone's privacy. When a private video is shared without permission, it stops being content and becomes a form of digital harm.

!What Is a Leaked Video?

A leaked video is a private recording that is made public without the consent of the person appearing in it. This can include:

- Intimate or personal moments
- Videos shared in confidence that were betrayed
- Recordings made without knowledge or permission
- Content hacked or stolen

A Without consent, there's no justification.

🚫 Viral Doesn't Mean Right

Just because a video has millions of views or is trending doesn't make it okay to watch or share. These videos can cause:

- Public humiliation
- Anxiety, depression, or emotional trauma
- Damage to family life, jobs, or reputations
- Online harassment or bullying

🗣️ Behind every video is a real person — with feelings, rights, and dignity.

❏ Before You Watch or Share, Ask Yourself:

- Was this video shared with permission?
- Could watching or spreading it harm someone?
- How would I feel if this happened to me?

👉 If the answer is “no”, then the action should also be “no.”

— Your Choice Matters

When you choose not to engage with leaked content, you're:

- ✓ Protecting someone's dignity
 - ✓ Rejecting the culture of exploitation
 - ✓ Promoting respect and consent online
 - ✓ Helping build a more ethical and humane internet

✖ Stop the Leaked Video Culture

It's not gossip.
It's not entertainment.
It's a violation.

Fame does not erase the right to privacy.
Curiosity does not excuse the harm.

 A More Humane Internet Starts With You

You can't always control what gets uploaded, but you can control what you choose to view or share.

Be the reason someone feels protected — not exposed.
